YEO MIN

TBC pp, 255 x 210 mm, HB, ISBN 978 981 5084 62 7, S$48.00

Pastries and desserts have long been an understated part of Chinese cuisine. Beyond mooncakes and pineapple tarts, the Chinese pastry repertoire involves a full range of techniques from sugar work to puff pastry; even jelly-making and medicinal soups! Pastry chef Yeo Min demystifies the techniques and provides a comprehensive collection of recipes to guide you through the art of Chinese pastry- and dessert-making, just as a pastry school would. Emerge as a master of the craft with Chinese Pastry School!

Growing Up in A Nonya Kitchen

A Peranakan family's food memories of Singapore

SHARON WEE

480 pp, 225 x 210 mm, HB, ISBN 978 981 5084 07 8, S$56.00

This is a cookbook, and an intimate memoir, giving readers a sense of what it felt like to grow up in a Peranakan Chinese family — descendants of local womenfolk and the earliest Chinese settlers to Southeast Asia.

As a fifth-generation Nonya (honorific for female Peranakans) from both sides of her family, Sharon Wee recounts her life in Singapore. She interviewed older relatives and recreated her mother's personalised recipes, many orally passed down for generations.

Growing Up in a Nonya Kitchen was originally published in 2012. This updated edition includes revised recipes and cooking methods, with more detailed explanations and guidance for the young or unfamiliar cook to Peranakan food, spiced with a dose of humour. It also includes new contributions by subject experts on the heritage and beautiful cultural legacy of the Peranakans.

A guest at the Bornean table

BRYAN KOH
542 pp, 255 x 195 mm, HB, ISBN 978 981 1804 80 9, S$80.00

Little has been written about the cuisines of Borneo, the fourth largest island in the world, occupied by three nations, Malaysia, Indonesia and Brunei. Fascinated by its history, astonishing biodiversity and peoples, Koh spent four years travelling across the island to meet some of the myriad communities contributing to its culinary landscape, from indigenous ethnic groups, like the Iban, Dusun, Murut, Malays and Banjarese, to settlers like the Chinese, Javanese and Bugis. The result is the rich, engaging and kaleidoscopic Tamu: A Guest at the Bornean Table, written as a travelogue with food firmly at its core. More than just culinary information and recipes, Tamu also sheds light on the lives, culture and traditions of the people who make up this fascinating land. It is also rich with information on the lesser-known botanicals that form the foundation of the island's local cuisines.

The Rise of Technosocialism

How inequality, AI and climate will usher in a new world

BRETT KING & DR RICHARD PETTY

368 pp, 227 x 152 mm, HB, ISBN 978 981 4868 95 2, S$46.00

What is the impact of COVID-19 on world economies? If the cost of providing universal health care is lower than the cost of building a political movement to prevent it, would politicians still view it as socialism? In a world where algorithms and robots take the jobs of immigrants and citizens alike, are border controls an effective response? If unemployment skyrockets due to automation, would conservative governments rather battle long-term social unrest, or could they agree on something like universal basic income? When renewable energy sources are a fraction of the cost of coal generated electricity, should lobbyists be able to prevent changes to energy infrastructure? When the crowd's mood is measured in influence and exabytes, will real-time democracy render elections a thing of the past?

International Bestselling authors Brett King and Dr. Richard Petty explore the seismic social changes that will be thrust on the world over the coming decades. The Rise of Technosocialism seeks to answer how our children will live with AI and climate disruption, the impact of COVID-19 in our lives along with which economies will likely emerge victorious in an always-on, smart world.

Chinafy

Why China is leading the West in innovation and how the rest of the world can catch up

JOANNA HUTCHINS

256 pp, 227 x 152 mm, HB, ISBN 978 981 5044 50 8, S$40.00

Western business leaders make two key assumptions about China: that China is always copying the West, and that the West is the seat of innovation. The truth is surprising: China is both copying and innovating, and while Western businesses are busy looking for the next new thing, China is rapidly iterating on what's already been done and pushing ahead.

While businesses in the West are getting disrupted and left behind, the savvy leaders among them can learn, innovate, and excel – by copying China's playbook!

Chinafy distills the key lessons from China to unlock business potential anywhere in the world. These lessons serve as catalysts for how to "Chinafy" innovation for growth. Taking a deep dive into the workings of China's most successful brands – from Haier to ByteDance – author Joanna Hutchins reveals what it takes to get ahead in the world of business and innovation.

“The future is already here. It is just very unevenly distributed. So wrote William Gibson in 1984. Today, China has emerged as one of the most advanced and technology-driven markets in the world with a largely cashless society driven by world-leading digital ecosystems. The future is here, and it is in China.”

Authored by Dr Anton Ravindran, together with guest chapters contributed by leading experts in their fields, this invaluable book provides a clear, comprehensive and authoritative look at how AI – managed wisely – can change the world for the better.

“...This important book brings together unique and stimulating insights into the future impact of AI on society and industry ... a must-read for all!”

272 pp, 216 x 135 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 5009 31 6, S$28.00

What if humans were simply not made to innovate? That our brains were designed to be efficient, not innovative, to ensure we survived as a species. Using research spanning from Nobel Laureate Herbert Simon's findings, the latest in MIT cognitive science labs and Nobel Prize winner Daniel Kahneman's groundbreaking work on System 1 and System 2 of the human brain, he proves that we can innovate only if we are able to escape from System 1. In a clear step-by-step way, Dr. Raharso shows us how to unlock ourselves from System 1, and swiftly trail blaze with an avant-garde course of action to be the first, and the best, next big thing.

A guide to setting up a will and managing a loved one's estate

LIM FUNG PEEN

192 pp, 215 x 140 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 4828 57 4, S$21.50

The average man on the street without a legal background has little or no knowledge about what to do or how to proceed when a loved one passes away. Some people assume that things will happen automatically through some government scheme, which is a common misconception. This book explains what happens when a person passes away, either having written a will or intestate (without a will), and sets out clearly the procedure to follow and the stages involved before assets and property can be properly dealt with. Case studies of real-life situations illustrate multiple scenarios, all pointing to the importance of setting up a will.

Singapore Street Names (4th Edition)

A study of toponymics

VICTOR R. SAVAGE & BRENDA S. A. YEOH

592 pp, 210 x 170 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 4928 80 9, S$37.30

Place names tell us much about a country — its history, its landscape, its people, its aspirations, its self-image. The study of place names called toponymics unlocks the stories that are in every street name and landmark. In Singapore, the existence of various races, cultures and languages, as well as its history of colonization, immigration and nationalism has given rise to a complex history of place names. But how did these places get their names? Expanded by over 100 pages, this revised and expanded 4th edition of the book incorporates additional information, from archival research as well as interviews that have come to light since the last edition. Also included are many new entries that have presented themselves as Singapore's built environment undergoes redevelopment.

The Singapore Mall Generation

History, imagination, identity

EDITED BY LIEW KAI KHIUN

320 pp, 210 x 170 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 5009 39 2, S$32.00

This book unearths Singapore's latent histories, cultures and communities that grew within its now ageing modern shopping centres, envisioned in the 1960s futuristically as "Arcades in the Air". Essays cover malls as historical and photographic sites, as homes for pioneering arcade gamers, youths cultures and veteran rock musicians, and as platforms for artistic imaginations and exhibitions. Amidst Singapore's constantly changing urban landscape, these otherwise dated shopping centres stand precariously as venerable sites of collective social and cultural memories.

ATHANASIOS TSAKONAS

288 pp, 152 x 227 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 4893 36 7, S$28.00

Kranji War Memorial and Cemetery, dedicated to those who died in the defence of Singapore during the Second World War, was designed by Colin St Clair Oakes, who had fought in the brutal Burma campaign. Completed in 1957, it is a masterwork of Modernist architecture – a culmination of Oakes' experiences in war and his evolution as an architect. Richly illustrated with photographs, maps and architectural plans, and drawing on extensive archival research and interviews in Europe, Australia and Asia, this is a riveting account of a world shattered by war, and man's heroic efforts to recover, rebuild and remember.

Seven Hundred Years

A history of Singapore

KWA CHONG GUAN, DEREK HENG,
PETER BORSCHBERG AND TAN TAI YONG

304 pp, 255 x 192mm, PB with flaps, ISBN 978 981 4828 10 9, S$35.00

This ambitious book, co-written by four of Singapore's foremost historians, offers an assertive re-evaluation of history. Drawing on a multi-disciplinary range of archival, textual and cartographical records, as well as the latest archaeological discoveries, the authors cast a singular historical trajectory for Singapore over the past seven centuries, animating its history like never before. Written in a compelling and accessible manner, and richly illustrated with over 200 artefacts, photographs, maps, art works and ephemera, this volume builds upon the foundations of an earlier book but is extensively rewritten to incorporate ground-breaking research findings. Seven Hundred Years widens the historical lens and offers a vital new perspective on the story of Singapore.

“A state-of-the art history of the island nation ... the authors have produced an brilliant yet accessible synthesis of Singapore's complex history from the 14th century to the present day. A must-read for scholars and general audiences alike.”

China's Rise, Asia's Decline

Asia's difficult outlook under China's shadow

WILLIAM BRATTON

280 pp, 227 x 152 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 4928 26 7, S$34.60

China's rise will be long-term punitive for the rest of Asia. Across all aspects of Asian geopolitics and economics, China's ascendancy to regional hegemonic status will result in the decline of its neighbours' political independence, economic dynamism and future growth potential. Any short-term benefits of China's growth, such as increased trade, will be transitory. The challenge for China's neighbours is how to respond to these evolving dynamics, especially as their strategic options are increasingly limited and few of the potential future scenarios are long-term positive.

Jakarta: History of a Misunderstood City

HERALD VAN DER LINDE

256 pp, 227 x 152 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 4893 48 0, S$23.35

Jakarta is a fascinating city. Its attraction lies in the incredibly wide variety of people – Indonesians, Chinese, Indians, Arabs and Europeans – who have arrived over the centuries, bringing with them their own habits, folklore and culture. This book provides a unique look at the history of Jakarta through the eyes of individuals who have walked its streets through the ages, revealing how some of the challenges confronting the city today – congestion, poverty, floods and land subsidence – mirror the struggles the city has had to face in the past.

Thailand: History, Politics and the Rule of Law

JAMES WISE

320 pp, 227 x 152 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 4841 54 2, S$34.60

This introductory book on Thai politics and the rule of law explains why chronically unstable Thailand struggles to mediate and adjudicate its political disputes. It focuses on the continuities between the pre-1932 and post-1932 periods. As a result of historical continuities, Thailand is the site of co-existing traditional and modern political legitimacies, which have affected the rule of law, freedom of expression and nationalism. The gap between these legitimacies is narrowing but still wide. The book concludes by asking whether adherents to both legitimacies can agree soon on the recasting of Thailand's governance.

Birds of Singapore

CHRISTOPHER HAILS AND FRANK JARVIS

176 pp, 227 x 152 mm, PB

ISBN 978 981 4794 47 3, S$28.00

For a relatively tiny island, with such a high ratio of urban development, Singapore contains a surprisingly large number of birds – native species as well as seasonal visitors due to its strategic position on a migration route between temperate Asia and the eastern tropics.

In this classic guide, Dr Christopher Hails leads the reader to all the major birdwatching habitats in Singapore, explaining changing patterns with shifting development and nature's fascinating adaptations to urban encroachment. His scholarly insights into migration, simplified for the lay reader, are enthralling and illuminating.

The illustrations have been painted by artist Frank Jarvis entirely from field sketches and, where essential, from studying skins and nests in the valued Raffles Collection, thus offering the highest level of accuracy in both the birds' features and their behaviour.

On the 30th anniversary of its publication, Marshall Cavendish is proud to release the paperback edition of this evergreen work, whose keenly observed illustrations and explanations have yet to be surpassed.

30 Useful Herbs & Spices of Thailand

A guide to their characteristics and uses in cooking and healing

HUGH T.W. TAN

192 pp, 227 x 152 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 4771 38 2, S$23.00

Thai cuisine is famed for the complexity and delicacy of its flavours, largely the result of the herbs and spices used. Surprisingly, only thirty or so are needed; it is the ingenious combination or blending of these ingredients that makes Thai food beloved throughout the world. At the same time that they add flavour, these herbs and spices bring curative properties that have been recognised in traditional practice. In this book, each description of a herb or spice includes its scientific and common names in English and Thai, a botanical description of the plant, how it should be stored to best preserve its qualities, its culinary and medicinal uses, and other notable applications.

FICTION

"Fiction reveals truth that reality obscures."

— Ralph Waldo Emerson

Artifice

SIMON CHESTERMAN

192 pp, 198 x 130 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 5084 92 4, S$23.14

Artifice is set in a near-future Singapore and takes on the challenge of what truly sentient AI might mean for humanity. It's speculative fiction in the mould of Ishiguro's Klara and the Sun or Le Tellier's The Anomaly. This novel would strike a chord given ongoing uncertainty and anxiety about the role of AI.

Humanity's greatest invention could be our last. Archie's involvement in the artificial intelligence project known as Janus was limited to routine diagnostics. But when she discovers that she and everyone else has been deceived by their creation, it launches her on a journey that will change her life — and humanity's future.

Maladies of the Soul

ISA KAMARI

112 pp, 198 x 130 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 5044 35 5, S$16.00

We live in a fragmented world that has caused alienation of our lives in many spheres and at multiple levels. The fifteen stories in this collection delve into the cracks and crevices of such lives in the social, political, economic, technological, cultural, artistic, sexual, psychological and religious spheres.

The book depicts levels of madness which ring in the lives of the characters caused by estrangement, isolation, desolation and loss of meaning in our contemporary world. The disheartening fact is that such alienated experiences are perceived to be normal and acceptable to many. There is still hope if we open doors of introspection and mindfulness to begin healing of our hearts and minds. These stories were originally published in Malay and have been translated into English.

Persephone's Choice

YIHAN SIM

200 pp, 198 x 130 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 4974 04 2, S$18.68

What if the gods were condemned to immortality due to the continued storytelling by mortals? What if Hades met Persephone in contemporary Singapore? Would their story still arrive at its age-old conclusion?

Sophie is an ordinary florist living an ordinary mortal life in Singapore whilst caring for an aged mother suffering from dementia. One day, a peculiar man with the same name as the ancient Greek god of the Underworld crashes into her life. Sophie tries to help him recover from amnesia and get back on his feet, while in the meantime, arranging for him to work for room and board at her flower shop. As time goes by, she grows accustomed to his company. She becomes unsure if she actually wants him to step out of her life just as abruptly as he had arrived. Absurd, comedic, and tender at the same time, this whimsical variation of the classic Greek myth amuses and delights.

Rice Bowl
244 pp, 198 x 130 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 5084 43 6, S$21.50

A powerful story of young love and idealism set in Singapore in the 1960s, a time of political uncertainties and economic insecurity.

Young, passionate and idealistic, Sister Marie rejects the conformity of her first love, a Singaporean police inspector, and embraces the liberalism of her second love, an American missionary. Fresh into university, she leads a group of students to question the values of a nation gripped by fear of the government and loss of their rice bowl. They organise a protest march against the Vietnam War, which leads to a riot, detention and deportation of the workers they try to help. In the midst of this, a student meets a tragic death, while a lecturer and a suspected Communist agent provocateur goes crazy in his attempts to radicalise the students-workers' movement.

A Bit of Earth
392 pp, 198 x 130 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 5084 44 3, S$21.50

In A Bit of Earth, Suchen Christine Lim deftly weaves historical fact and a fiery imagination in a visually powerful multicultural story that spans three generations and four decades—proving once again that she is one of Asia's leading fiction writers.

Malaya. A land of unparalleled richness. For centuries, the peninsula has attracted fortune hunters, money-grabbing pirates and migrants seeking a better life. Among those whose lives are rooted in the Malayan soil are three families: the Wongs, sons of the Chinese earth; the Wees, subjects of the English gods; and the Mahmuds, scions of the Malayan soil; each with different dreams for the bit of earth they live on. Their destinies meet and this clash of hopes inevitably leads to tragedy.

Sprawl: A Graphic Novel

WRITTEN BY FELIX CHEONG, ILLUSTRATED BY ARIF RAFHAN

64 pp, 150 x 235 mm, HB, ISBN 978 987 4928 90 8, S$18.68

A hardboiled detective near the burnt-end of days. His knuckleheaded partner, a scholar destined for bigger things. And a young mother working illegally as a bar girl. In the sprawl of a city oblivious to their dreams, their lives intersect in the most unlikely of places – a murder scene. Sprawl is gritty and laced with dark humour, its characters paradoxically cynical and romantic. Innovative and surprising, Sprawl will open your eyes to how poetry and artwork can work seamlessly together. And how a city as hard-edged in chrome and steel as Singapore has the softness of an underbelly.

Sprawl 2: God's Lonely Man

WRITTEN BY FELIX CHEONG, ILLUSTRATED BY ARIF RAFHAN

100 pp, 150 x 235 mm, HB, ISBN 978 987 5066 73 9, S$18.68

The second book of the Sprawl universe follows the trials and travails of Jack, a nightshift taxi driver. Forced out of his home by a tycoon's unscrupulous land grab, he retaliates in the only way a former soldier knows how – violence. But with the help of an intrepid reporter, Jack manages to change the rules of the game – with devastating consequences. Inspired by Martin Scorsese's 1976 film, Taxi Driver, Sprawl 2 continues the successful blend of Felix Cheong's poetry and Arif Rafhan's comic book art. It is at once refreshing, cinematic and entertaining read.

Eve and the Lost Ghost Family

Killed in a car accident one night – the family begin their wandering in the afterlife. Only to discover it's nothing to write home about and, like life itself, comes with its baggage.

Meanwhile, Eve becomes drawn to a girl whose house she's haunting and finds they actually have the same taste in music and poetry. Now, how do you scare the living daylights out of your soulmate? And there's the small matter of looking for her equally-dead boyfriend who's somewhere out there – wherever "out there" is.

Behind closed doors, a matriarch controls her daughters-in-law's movements. A bachelor from Kerala pines by his window for his forbidden lover. A maid from a rubber estate across the border aches to hold her young son once more. An interracial love between a conservative Tamil woman and a worldly Chinese man wreaks havoc in the life of an innocent bystander. The idyllic village life is shaken when two midwives are viciously attacked at the maternity clinic, and again when one of their own beloved residents meets with an unnatural death. As catastrophes strike, the village comes together as one. A dramatic, sweeping saga of Sembawang families across five decades.

Xiao Shiong hates his life; peer problems in NS; studying for a degree he didn't even like. Throw in a rotten childhood, and add the fact his abusive addict father was just released from prison. When his father tried and failed to kill him, Xiao Shiong realised through netizens that the country is in need of a crime fighter.

As Xiao Shiong is spurred into crime fighting in the guise of Red Puma, Master of Parkour, Defender of SG, guided by a behind-the-scenes keyboard jockey, the line between altruism and personal fights of fancy get blurred. When someone dear to him is kidnapped by a rival superhero, Xiao Shiong has to decide what exactly he is fighting for.

Validation explores the inadequacy felt when one is unable to live up to the expectations of society, and how turning to the internet for instant gratification and validation for one's actions may not turn out to one's expectations.

Thirty years from now, the bulk of humanity lives in hyper-connected, automated urban centers around the world. But Michael Quinn and the small rustic community in the Driftless Reservation in the US are living lives apart. Michael was delivered to this off-grid reservation as an infant by a mysterious foreigner known only as Dr Lim.

Michael is gnawed by the mystery of his parents' untimely deaths, and he is compelled to flee when his presence is detected by nefarious governmental actors. Michael's search for answers takes him to Chicago and then Singapore, where he unearths secrets about his father who decades earlier, had been the subject of ethically dubious brain imaging experiments carried out in China. The knowledge gained from these experiments would ultimately fall into the hands of a powerful Singapore-based corporation, part of a the ubiquitous artificial intelligence infiltrating every corner of the virtual world. As Michael engages the intelligent network, he finds it has now become host to a familiar consciousness.

Singapore University Campus, 1980. Professor Bernard Fox is found hanging from his overhead fan. Everything points to suicide except for one thing: If Bernard hanged himself, how did he turn on the fan? The autopsy shows the professor had consumed enough tranquilizers to sedate but not to kill. But if he were sedated and murdered, why would his murderer turn on the fan? The turning fan prompts an investigation that takes us into the turbulent history of Singapore's birth as a nation, uncovers a search for World War II treasure and exposes a second-generation thirst for revenge. A murder mystery wrapped in history and unfolded within a love story.

Orphaned as a child and widowed at thirteen, Sita has always known the shame of being born female in Indian society. Her life could not be more different from her daughter's. While trying to unravel the mysteries in her mother's past, Amita encounters a traumatic event that leads her down the path of self-discovery. Unfolding simultaneously, their stories are set against the dramatic sweep of India's anti-colonial struggle in the 1940s. The narrative moves between present and past, from modern-day Singapore to pre-war rural India, and to the chaotic Burmese battlefield where Sita experiences life as a recruit in the Rani of Jhansi Regiment, the women's unit of the Indian National Army. This is a compelling exploration of two women's struggle to assert themselves in male-dominated societies of both the past and the present.

A Far Horizon
464 pp, 198 x 130 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 4868 61 7, S$23.35

Set in Calcutta in 1756, A Far Horizon tells the compelling and evocative story of events leading up to the notorious Black Hole of Calcutta incident. In this tale of native evil and British victimisation, set during the fall of the British fortress of Fort William in Calcutta, a wicked nawab is said to have imprisoned 144 Englishmen in a tiny room for one night. In the morning only 23 people emerged alive. Their ordeal has fed the legends of colonialism for well over 200 years. In modern times, however, Indian historians challenge the truth of this account. The novel explores not only the events that led up to that incident but the lives of a town divided by race and culture, and the prejudices that would soon grow unchecked in the era of Empire.

If Singapore was a big rug, what would you find if you peered underneath? We looked, and we found people. People with stories. Stories filled with complexities.

- An ex-offender re-entering employment who finds that society has decided what jobs he should do.
- A child protection officer who works a 17-hour day and still asks of himself: Have I done my best? Could I have done more?
- A community doctor who has to stretch limited resources to meet unlimited needs. Who does he serve? Who does he turn away?
- A policymaker who reflects that government policies must be prudent and rigorous, yet adaptable and collaborative. How can you help?

This book brings together 30 illuminating stories from people in Singapore's unseen social impact sector. From social workers to counsellors, special education teachers, persons with disability, social entrepreneurs, policymakers – these are people with real lived experience of the other face of sunny Singapore. The stories are by turns inspiring, discomfiting and thought-provoking. Taken together, they nudge us towards greater understanding, deeper reflection, and more meaningful engagement with our communities.

One man experience with in vitro fertilisation

JAMES THOO

TBC pp, 216 x 135 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 5084 59 7, S$27.52

This book addresses the millennial man's desire to raise a family, dissecting the modern male identity through the lens of in vitro fertilisation (IVF). Author James Thoo's hilarious, raw and deeply personal account of the process – "one prolonged uppercut to the scrotum" – reveals the silent blows of infertility on the male psyche. It is must-have armour for men and women going through assisted reproduction treatments, IVF doctors trying to mentally prepare patients, and anyone yearning to be a parent.

Being Here Is Everything

A journey on fatherhood

JAMES THOO

TBC pp, 216 x 135 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 5084 60 3, S$27.52

As a fully occupied, stay-home dad obsessed with getting it all right, screenwriter James Thoo struggles to pay attention to anyone at all. He confronts toxic masculinity, processes the death of his mother, and battles the nagging feeling of failure that shapes every passing moment of his day into, effectively, a fresh new opportunity to ruin his daughter forever.

The only escape from these opportunities are the hours after he passes out. Yet these very moments, in his dreams, are when the ghosts of movies past come to visit. An endless string of outstanding fathers who succeeded under exceptional circumstances, from Bryan Mills (Taken) to Ned Stark (Game of Thrones), and Mufasa (The Lion King) arrive to offer some perspective (unsolicited). This is a book for everyone struggling to find that balance between being a parent, and a husband, and a professional, and indeed, a human being.

THOMAS A. SQUIRE

272 pp, 216 x 135 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 5066 75 3, S$23.35

This book is a light-hearted sharing of a journey that is not usually travelled by men. This book covers the highs and lows, the foibles and contemplations of a regular guy as he navigates new countries, hangs with the kids, mingles with the mums, submits more completely to domestic chores, and tries his best to avoid isolation and talking about nappy changes ... and his search for meaning and "flow" in the process.

VARIOUS, EDITED BY KOH BUCK SONG

240 pp, 216 x 135 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 5009 62 0, S$26.00

Multiculturalism is arguably the X-factor of Singapore's admired country brand. But while the island republic's openness to the world is undoubted, its ethnic cohesiveness at home came under scrutiny amidst the stresses of pandemic times. In 2021, the government announced moves to establish new legislation for a Maintenance of Racial Harmony Act.

This thought-provoking collection of 26 essays reflects on Singapore's progress, since independence in 1965, to integrate its component communities into one society and nation. Insights are drawn from diverse perspectives – Malay, Indian, Eurasian, Peranakan, Chinese and others. Lessons from the past are analysed, and evolving challenges of the present assessed. This book is a timely reminder that racial harmony is never a reachable destination, but an ongoing journey, an aspiration that every citizen and resident can contribute to every day.

TRUE CRIME / SOCIAL ISSUES

True Crime Classics: The Murder of a Beauty Queen

ALEX JOSEY
212 pp, 180 x 115 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 4893 41 1, S$13.97
A beautiful, sensuous and rich widow is brutally murdered in the most questionable of circumstances. The last person to see her alive is her brother-in-law and lover – a man later found guilty on circumstantial evidence. Not until the condemned man appealed did a witness come forward and admit that he had given false evidence. How did she die? Who was the other mysterious lover to whom she constantly penned saucy letters? Why did the witness lie?

True Crime Classics: Pulau Senang

The experiment that failed
ALEX JOSEY
204 pp, 180 x 115 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 4893 44 2, S$13.97
In 1965, 18 convicted criminals were sentenced to death for murder – a haunting testimony to the failure of a bold experiment to reform seasoned criminals in a gaol without bars. Right to the end, Daniel Dutton, director of the model penal settlement, could not believe that the men he had befriended and worked so hard to rehabilitate would want to destroy him. Too late he realised the extraordinary hold secret society leaders had over their men. This book reconstructs the events that led to the tragedy and the trial, and throws light on a question that has never been answered satisfactorily: Why did the experiment fail?

True Crime Classics: The 'Perfect' Murder

The trial of Sunny Ang
ALEX JOSEY
156 pp, 180 x 115 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 4893 42 8, S$13.97
Bankrupt and desperate for money, a brilliant psychopath planned the perfect crime. Sunny Ang selected his victim with care. Jenny was a young divorced bar girl with little schooling, flattered that an educated, charming man should notice her. He seduced her and promised marriage. He also insured Jenny's life for a million dollars; the sum would go to his mother if she died an accidental death. Then he plotted murder: first, an unsuccessful car accident, and then the fatal scuba diving trip off the dangerous waters of Sisters Islands. Jenny went down and never came up. Only a cut flipper was found. Without a body, the prosecution had no medical evidence and no witnesses to claim unnatural death. How did the law finally catch up with Ang?

True Crime Classics: The Tenth Man

The gold bar murders
ALEX JOSEY
176 pp, 180 x 115 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 4893 43 5, S$13.97
Ten men were involved in the robbery and the gruesome murder of a gold merchant and his two employees. Stolen from them were 120 bars of pure gold. Nine of them were subsequently found guilty. Seven were hanged. Two narrowly escaped the gallows because of their extreme youth. The tenth man, however, escaped death. A fast-paced account that captures the sinister excitement and drama of the plotting, and merciless and savage execution of the victims, by a twisted bunch of felons. Just who betrayed whom?

DR LUBNA ALSAGOFF

224 pp, 245 x 180 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 5009 10 1, S$35.00

Grammar is a subject of study that is often associated with an irresistible urge to doze off or run away in terror. In this book, however, you will find grammar presented in a different light. Rather than focusing on lists of rules to be remembered, the book explains the hows and whys of grammar through the use of easy-to-read charts, tables, annotated diagrams, and concept maps. This introductory book is for anyone interested in learning how grammar works and how to use language more effectively.

DR GWEE LI SUI

Dr Gwee Li Sui is a former academic who now labours in the arts as a poet, writer, editor, literary critic and graphic artist. He wrote Singapore’s first long-form graphic novel, Myth of the Stone, back in 1993, and has five books of verse to date. The Leeter Spiaking Singlish series

180 x 115 mm, PB, S$14.95

Following on the success of his 2017 hit, Spiaking Singlish, Gwee Li Sui is back with a series of three “Leeter” books covering the quintessential features of Singlish, Singapore’s unofficial language – written in Singlish!

Book 1: End-Particles

104 pp, ISBN 978 981 4974 74 5

In this first volume, we delve into what is known as the end-particle: “a modifier that primarily comes at the end of a sentence or a clause. Its appearance changes the meaning of the whole construction – yes, it is that powerful one! We will look at a whole bunch of them: lah, leh, ler, lor, loh, liao, ha, ah, hor, wor, mah, meh, siol, sial, sia, eh, nia, neh, and bah. Some are long-long oredi got use although their uses may have evolved. Others are sibeh new even to my ears!”

Book 2: Idioms

112 pp, ISBN 978 981 5009 61 3

In the second volume, we learn that Singlish is not just about lah and leh: “Singlish oso got idiom and proverbs wor. Such kinds of expression make natural sense within a language and often cannot be translated without lugi-ing some depth. Consider how much shiokness ‘blur like sotong’ and ‘bak chew tak stamp’ bring to a situation with people being tekanded. Use ‘pattern more than badminton’, ‘mee siam mai hum’, or ‘last time policeman wear shorts’, and you’ll have pecah lobang your true fewling on a matter without saying more.”

Book 3: Loanwords

112 pp, ISBN 978 981 5009 65 1

In the third volume, we look at where Singlish words come from: “There are England terms like ‘act cute’ and ‘act blur’ whose meanings we tweak, Melayu ones we keep like ‘cabut’ and ‘pakat’, cheena ones we use like ‘cheong hei’ or translate into England like ‘wait long-long’, Tamil words like ‘goondu’ and ‘aiyoh’, distorted Japanese words like ‘bakero’, and so on. Then got phrases made with words from different languages that become something lagi tok kong, such as ‘buay tahan’ and ‘jiak kentang’.”

“...The two-volume set of A Tapestry of Colours – Stories from Asia, edited by Dr Anitha Devi Pillai, offers teachers a uniquely valuable resource for classrooms and an extraordinary opportunity to help students discover for themselves what the reading of literature can offer to them in delight and in their expanded understanding of human experience..... The individual stories in these two volumes, moreover, are presented in a textual setting that is likely to promote and deepen the reflection and discussion that inevitably follows classroom reading.”

TAN HUAY PENG

The Chinese script, with its many complex characters, can often prove to be a formidable challenge, especially for young learners. In this new volume, over 100 essential Chinese characters that every beginning learner should know have been carefully selected and compiled. Humorous illustrations, clear explanations and plenty of examples help to demystify the Chinese language by deconstructing the characters and showing how they evolved from ancient pictographs and ideographs to their modern form. Each character is given a stroke-by-stroke breakdown of how it is to be written. Peng's Fun with Chinese Characters for Children is based on the highly popular Fun with Chinese Characters series.

Re-affirming the Core

Understanding the issues surrounding the way out of the storms

BRYAN SHEN

240 pp, 130 x 198 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 5084 49 8, S$21.50

This book is the follow-up to author Bryan Shen's first book, The Un-affirmed Core, which sought to remove misconceptions, prejudice, and negative attitudes of people in conservative-religious communities against people with homosexuality. Thereafter, several civil and religious leaders asked him, "Now that you have turned our attitudes around, what do we do?" With the deluge of shallow information and disinformation on the Internet, the urgency to know how to help and protect people struggling silently with non-heterosexuality is increasing every day. The present volume arises from this urgency. In this book, Bryan has put together a structured framework where the psycho-social-familial development of non-heterosexuality can be understood. The knowledge and advice is drawn from his interactions with a population that is very deeply hidden and afraid and is therefore unknown in most media. With support, society can help everyone deal with these complex and sensitive issues.

The Un-Affirmed Core

Understanding the factors behind and around homosexuality

BRYAN SHEN

176 pp, 130 x 198 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 5066 96 8, S$21.50

The Un-affirmed Core offers a fresh, careful and deeply compassionate look at the complex issues surrounding homosexuality. Author Bryan Shen provides clear explanations drawn from modern psychology, real-life experiences and traditional sexual ethics. This book reduces prejudice, fear and misunderstanding. It addresses the important people around those who struggle alone – afraid, confused and hidden. It equips them with the ability to provide support, from both a psychological-assistive approach as well as a spiritual-pastoral approach. Through detailed case stories, as well as input from leading therapists in the US, Asia and Europe, The Un-affirmed Core lays out an integrated understanding of the factors behind and around homosexuality. This understanding has helped countless readers, and continues to be refined through working with those who otherwise struggle in silence.

“A precious source of enlightenment and insight for people in conservative-religious communities who are ready to begin thinking about people with same-sex attractions in a serious way..”

Longevity in Singapore

Implications and opportunities for individuals and society

DR HELEN KO

208 pp, 216 x 135 mm, PB, ISBN 978 981 4974 12 7, S$28.00

By 2030, one in four Singaporeans will be aged 65 or older. The ageing population will affect all levels and arenas of Singapore society; individuals, families, and even organisations. The financial implications of this demographic transition have been a key concern for the government.

Against the above backdrop, this book seeks to achieve the following. Firstly, to provide readers with a better understanding of the physical and psychological changes and illnesses as they age. Secondly, it looks at the infrastructure and tools to enable seniors to age-in-place as well as the necessary support and training for family and caregivers. The third aim highlights how and why we need to integrate older workers fully into the workplace, as well as the changes needed to attain this goal. Finally, this book emphasises that ageing should not be seen in a negative light and that there are vast opportunities and dividends that could result from longevity in the 21st century.

Ultimately, the goal of this book is to facilitate older adults to age gracefully in Singapore, living out their golden years with dignity in the community, and be given the opportunities to continue to contribute meaningfully to society and live purposeful lives.

“Longevity presents challenges of a multi-faceted, multi-dimensional nature and thus necessitates an inter-disciplinary approach.”

—Professor Cheong Hee Kiat, Immediate Past President
Singapore University of Social Sciences

MING TAN, ILLUSTRATED BY ALI SHANDI RAMADAN
40 pp, 200 x 200 mm, HB, ISBN 978 981 4974 13 4, S$14.02

Clean and Dirty celebrates both good hygiene and messy play. We have an in-built curiosity to touch, feel and taste, to experience the world with all our senses. Getting sand between the toes or a little mud on the clothes are all part of the fun! At the same time, we need to keep ourselves healthy. Many animals have developed unique techniques to get rid of dirt and keep parasites at bay. This rhyming story, in the voice of a young child, explores these essential survival skills in nature. In some cases, such as mud rolling or dust-bathing, one animal's ingenious method of keeping clean may look like getting dirty for another! The book ends with some easy ideas for messy play and clean fun to try at home.

We use the same measures of speed and time, but our perception of time is very personal. Minutes drag when we're bored, but hours fly by when we're having fun. Sometimes we want to do things fast, other times we feel like taking things slow. This rhyming story, in the voice of a young child, explores how our pace shapes our experience of the world. In Fast and Slow, we meet speedy and sedate animals from all over the world, discovering how they move through time and space in their unique ways. Likewise, we can each find our own tempo while finding joy in the present. The book ends with some easy games and activities that encourage either speed or stillness.

More than seventy different types of mammals are represented, from the chimpanzee, which does not gain its independence until the age of seven or eight, to the tiny hamster, which is already fending for itself after only two months.

The main text provides a vivid synopsis of each animal's life, including how the animal learns to survive, achieves independence, and mates. Superb illustrations and detailed captions offer additional about the various stages that the animal goes through. Multiple points of interest highlight special aspects of each animal's life, such as breeding season, litter size, and average life expectancy.

CUSTOM PUBLISHING WITH MARSHALL CAVENDISH

OUR SERVICES

We provide end-to-end creative solutions for our partners, from the first sketch of an idea to delivery of the final product.

Concept development

We will work with you from the outset to grow the first seed of your idea. This starts with strategy briefings and brainstorming sessions, which lead to the setting of a framework for the content, including the desired messaging, themes, tone, contents structure and graphic design templates.

Content creation

As an international publisher, we are proud to work with a vast pool of creative partners – from bestselling authors to award-winning chefs; to photographers, illustrators, and more. Depending on the concept and requirements of your project, we can call upon this range of talent to help us create the highest-quality content perfectly tailored to your needs.

Editing, design and layout

It goes without saying that our skilled in-house editorial and design staff will be on hand to meticulously prepare your content for publication. Our collaborative workflow invites you to be involved at every step of the way, including manuscript review, the graphic design process and proof-correction.

Production

Whatever the desired nature of the final product – printed books, ebooks and apps, or an array of other possibilities – we will recommend the best specifications to present your content in the highest quality.

Commercial outreach

In some cases, your content might be so exciting to us that we could market, sell and license your book around the world. We can also arrange spin-off events, such as cooking demos, heritage talks, business seminars and school appearances.

Dedicated project direction

A dedicated project director will oversee the efficient delivery of all of our services, ensuring you have a highly knowledgeable and consultative point of contact to lead your project from beginning to end.
